Understanding your picks · tags · grades · signals

UNIVERSAL

Grade System & Edge Metrics

A+
Highest confidence

Every signal aligned. Your strongest plays of the night.

Strong confidence

Most signals agree. High priority — don't sleep on these.

B+
Solid edge

Good risk/reward. Play at standard unit size.

B
Moderate edge

Playable. Consider sizing down slightly.

C+
Lean play

Use as parlay adds or small unit plays only.

C
Marginal value

Thin edge. Avoid parlaying — single bet only.

EDGE % & +EV EXPLAINED

EDGE %

How much value we've found versus the book's price. The higher the edge, the more the book has mispriced this bet in your favor. 1%+ playable · 2%+ solid · 3%+ premium.

+EV (POSITIVE EXPECTED VALUE)

These picks are mathematically profitable over time. The price you're getting is better than the true odds of it hitting. This is what sharp bettors hunt for every single day.

-EV FILTER

Any pick with negative expected value is automatically filtered out before you ever see results. Bad-value bets never make it through.

Trend Tags

Trend tags summarize recent performance momentum for a player or team versus the betting line. They guide you on whether the pick has wind at its back — or is fighting against it.

HOT

Player or team is on sustained fire — crushing the line in their most recent games and over the longer stretch. This isn't a one-game fluke. Strong momentum is confirmed.

→ Stack with DVP SMASH or OPP KILLER for maximum confidence

COLD BUY

Recently cold, but the longer-term picture is strong and the player remains efficient and heavily involved. This is a sharp regression play — the type of spot books love when the public fades a star having a slow week.

→ Contrarian value. Best on elite players in featured roles

STEADY

Consistent production near the line across both recent and longer-term windows. No hot/cold swing — just reliable, floor-locked output. Great for parlay legs.

→ The safest legs for same-game parlays and stacks

COLD

Player is well below their line both recently and over the extended stretch. Not a buy-the-dip situation — a genuine form dip. Confidence is automatically reduced on picks with this tag.

→ Avoid or significantly reduce unit size

FADE

Hot recently, but the bigger picture shows they've been below this line consistently. An unsustainable streak primed to cool down. Picks flagged FADE are automatically removed — you'll never see them in results.

→ Removed automatically — never surfaces as a pick

Situational & Matchup Tags

These tags appear on picks across every sport — NBA, NFL, NHL, MLB, Soccer, Combat. They represent real-world situational edges that are factored into every confidence score automatically.

OPP KILLER

This player or team has historically dominated this specific opponent — well above their normal line. Consistent head-to-head excellence, not a sample fluke.

OPP EDGE

Favorable history against this opponent this season. Not dominant, but a meaningful track record of outperforming the line in this matchup.

OPP STRUGGLE

Historically underperforms against this specific opponent. Confidence is automatically reduced. A signal to look for the other side instead.

B2B

This team is on the 2nd night of a back-to-back. Fatigue is real — it affects shooting, defense, and effort. Impacts all sports. Pick confidence is reduced accordingly.

OPP B2B

The opponent is on a back-to-back. Their defense is tired and effort drops on night 2. This creates scoring opportunities. A genuine edge, especially for overs.

BLOWOUT RISK

Large spread game. Starters get pulled early, garbage time shrinks stats, and game pace changes. Confidence on prop overs and totals is reduced in these spots.

Player Props Guide

AVAILABLE PROP TYPES

- Points — Scoring props for primary and secondary scorers with real volume.
- Rebounds — Both bigs and active rebounders at guard/forward. Role matters.
- Assists — Playmakers and primary ball-handlers. Pace of the game factors in.
- 3PM (Threes Made) — Dedicated shooters only. Volume and opponent defense against the three both matter.
- Steals — Active perimeter defenders and disruptors. Only players with consistent steal production qualify.
- Blocks — Rim protectors and shot-altering bigs. Only players with real shot-blocking history qualify.

DVP TAGS — DEFENSE VS POSITION

DVP SMASH — The opponent is one of the worst defenses in the league at this position for this stat. Elite matchup — a legitimate reason to push your bet size. The most reliable external signal we surface.

DVP EDGE — The opponent is a below-average defense at this position. A favorable matchup that adds meaningful confidence as a supporting signal.

DVP = Defense vs Position — tracks how badly a team defends each position for each stat type.

SOCCER

Anytime Goalscorer Props

Soccer props focus on Anytime Goalscorer — will this player find the net at least once? These are high-value markets because books consistently misprice attackers who are integral to their team's attack.

WHO YOU'LL SEE

Only strikers and attacking midfielders with genuine goal-scoring roles. Longshots are filtered out — odds are capped so you're only seeing players with a realistic path to scoring, not lottery tickets.

ODDS TIERS

- +100 to +200 — Elite attackers. Best value tier. Book is most likely to be off here.
- +200 to +400 — Regular starters with scoring roles. Solid value with the right game.
- +400 to +500 — Supporting attackers. Higher risk — use as adds only.

WHAT DRIVES THE PICK

- Goals per game — Recent production rate, not just reputation
- Game environment — High totals mean more open play and more chances
- Opponent defense — Goals allowed per game is a major factor

- Team attack strength — How much does this team generate offensively?

Combat Sports Guide

Combat picks target fight moneylines and total rounds props. Unlike team sports, value in combat comes from identifying mispriced fighters — both overlooked underdogs and overpriced favorites the public is too heavy on.

MONEYLINE PICKS

- Favorite (negative odds) — The scanner identifies spots where the public has inflated a favorite beyond their actual edge. Fading overpriced chalk is where the value lives.
- Underdog (positive odds) — +EV underdogs where style matchups, physical advantages, and finishing ability create a real winning probability at a rewarding price.
- Best price shown — Moneylines always reflect the best available odds across all major US sportsbooks.

TOTAL ROUNDS

- Under total rounds — High-volume finishers facing opponents with durability questions. Early stoppage is the play.
- Over total rounds — Technical fighters, grinders, and defensive fighters who consistently push to the scorecards.
- How rounds work — "2.5 rounds" means the fight ends before or after the halfway point of round 3. Standard for 3-round bouts.
- MMA vs Boxing — Every fight card is labeled so you always know the rule set and context.

How To Use MoonPro Bets

TIP 01

Lead with A+ and A grades. These are the picks where everything is aligned. Build your core bets here every night before going further down the list.

TIP 02

Cap same-game parlays at 2–3 legs. More legs on the same game compounds variance fast. Two or three strong correlated picks beats a 6-leg lottery ticket every time.

TIP 03

COLD BUY is the sharp play. When a star goes cold, the public fades them and lines move. Efficient players in major roles always come back. That's your window before the line corrects.

TIP 04

Watch the B2B tag on your props. Fatigued players on night 2 of a back-to-back consistently underperform prop lines — especially skill-heavy stats like threes and assists.

TIP 05

DVP SMASH + HOT = the best spots. When a player's hot streak meets an elite matchup

TIP 06

Edge % tells the real story. A B+ pick with 3%+ edge can outperform an A pick at 1%. The edge percentage advantage, that's rare alignment. These are your highest-conviction plays — treat them accordingly.
